

Advice Warning & Disclaimer

The material on the Carapacho website is of a general nature and should not be used as a substitute for individual advice. While the information contained on the site has been compiled in good faith, no representation is made as to its completeness or accuracy.

The purpose of the Carapacho website is to introduce our business and provide our contact details for those seeking more information.

In no event, shall Carapacho be liable for any damages whatsoever arising out of the use of this site.

Links to other sites are provided for your convenience only and do not constitute or imply endorsements or recommendations of any other company, product or service. Carapacho is not responsible for the content of any other site accessed via this website.

Please note: there is no guarantee that the contents of an email sent to Carapacho will remain confidential during internet transmission.